

...november 30, 2010...

after the grip
of frosted breath
we'll put the robin
to its nest
to dance its eggs
with feathered wings
when golden blue
erupts in spring –

singing loud
the spinning tongue
will wrap us all
inside the warm
watching buds
on winter trees
gradually
exploding leaves.

©pamela swanson
www.poetpam.com

