i am the god who birthed the gods and then imprisoned them again pretending i was are not a god creating gods-to-be –

i am the god who slew the gods with silver swords and weaponry branding guilt into my skin until i could forgive again – i am the god who loved the gods weaving streets of paradise – i loved the gods to cast them down beyond the winter of my name – i am the god who saved the gods and threw them into alpine flowers until their roots rewove my skin while mountains breathed us back to one.
