is it true i've grown old? what stores have these dreams foretold in esoteric mysteries resounding through the all-that-is?

are we really all reflecting everything back to ourselves like outside-in polarities exploring disparate lives?

if that's the case then old is but refraction to the world of young – while new is polar opposite to cherishing the ancient ones –

we play in worlds of desire through passions and meanderings like atoms spiralling through lives to dance a universe of souls.
